Note for Parents

This book is designed to engage children from the ages of 3 to 5. The puzzles at the beginning are aimed at the lower age group but they get progressively harder to keep them interested as they get older.

There is a link in the middle of this book that will take you to the author's website where you can download a PDF version so that you can print out these puzzles to be used again and again.

This book has puzzles to stimulate your child's creativity and cognitive ability as well as practice their reading and counting.

The best way to use this book, is to give them a set of pens and let them loose on the pages while giving them hints and some advice if they get stuck.

Dedication

This is for the youngest members of my family, whether they are starting preschool or having adventures in regular school.

Can you follow the right trail to Earth?

On Christmas Eve in Outer Space,
Minkie smiles by his fire-place.
He is going away on a trip,
to meet Santa with his space ship.

So this is the famous
North Pole,
I think as I quietly stroll.

There is no-one near,
no sound can I hear.

The only sound was a muted clock,
quiet and still, just a tick-tock.
The big workshop has gifts piled high.
But wait, did I just hear a sigh?

Can you find the hiding
elf?

I am so tired and in such a daze.
Sorry, my friends! It's the holidays.
Sometimes we all need some time alone I might even...

turn off my phone!!!
Santa Claus

Trace the dotted letters
to finish
the note!

An elf steps out, small and green,
Her eyes all sparkling and keen.
"Santa has gone and left us alone."
She pointed at a note with a groan.

"He went away, he took a break,
To the beach, city or a lake...
We do not know, we do not have a clue."
The elf was green, but now turning bright blue.

"Where did he go? Where is he now?
Minkie touched his furrowed brow.
Those are postcards of far away.
Where on Earth would Santa stay?"

How many postcards
are there?

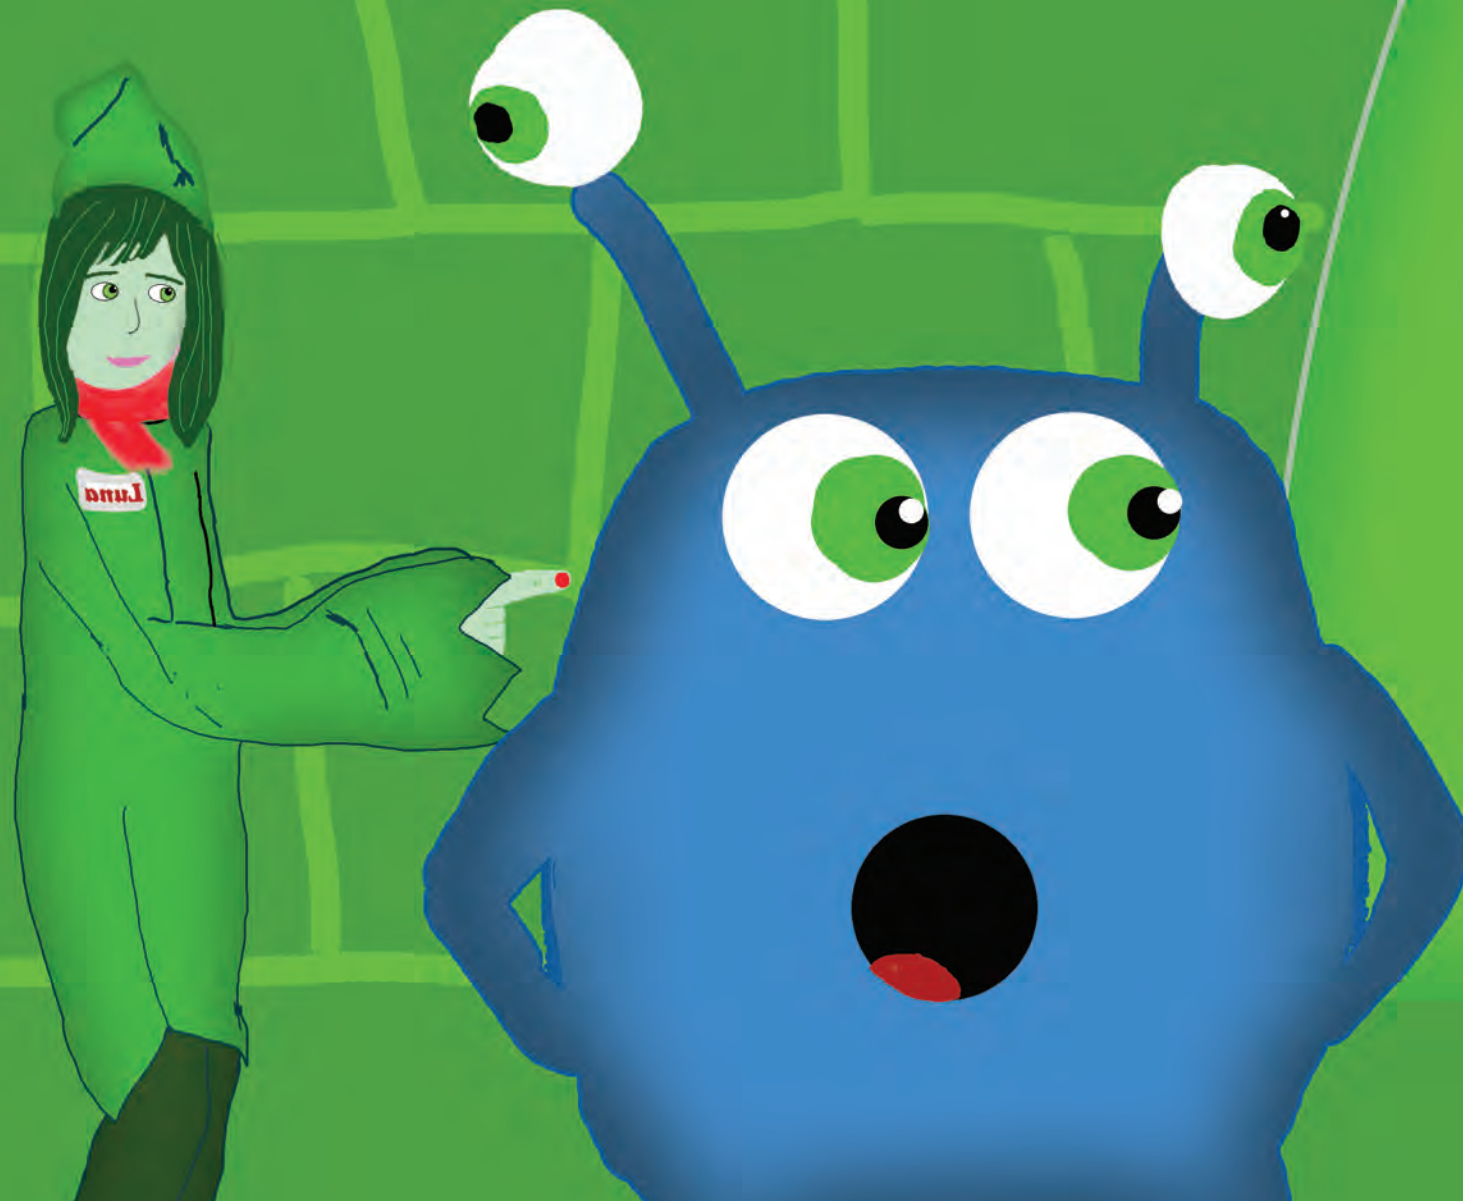

Find the shapes in the
postcards!

Can you see the triangles in the statue's hat?

"There is no way to tell.
On the wall do not dwell.
Where Santa has gone is now moot.
You need to wear his red suit!"

Can you spot
the 3
differences in the suits?

Santa's suit is SO tight.
I must look quite a sight.

Minkie is worried, help him to count to ten to calm him down by tracing the numbers.

How will I deliver the gifts in one night?
The elf smiled, "Don't worry, it will be alright."

Luna took me to the reindeer stable.
They moved around as much
as they were able.

"You must find Rudolph
to pull the sleigh,
but hurry, you have not got all day!"

Can you help Minkie find Rudolph?
Hint: He has a red nose!

Do you know the names
of the reindeer?
Turn over the page to find them!

We need to pack Santa's sack,
but we must rush to get back.
Can it even be filled in time?
Look, the clock is about to chime!

Find the reindeer
in the word
search!

DASHER DANCER PRANCER
VIXEN BLITZEN COMET
CUPID DONNER
RUDOLPH

How many flying fish can you count?

Through the night I flew SO high,
By the sunset in the sky.
I flew past land, sea and flying fish,
To deliver gifts for every wish.

Trace the dots to show
the christmas tree!

We did it! This is the last house,
I am as quiet as a mouse.
Oh no! There is a present spare.
I need to get back into the air.

This year, Bob was not naughty after all.
The present is for him and is not small.

Oh look, my friend seems fast asleep.
Across the floor I must creep.
He will never believe what happened to me.
But I will know, I think as I pass the branches of our Christmas tree.

Minkie knows what the presents are.
Can you guess which gift is which toy?

About Ceri Clark

Ceri Clark lives in the Land of Myth with her husband and young son. She spent time as a school librarian but now loves to create puzzles and stories for children of all ages.

Please consider leaving a review,
A few words or more that are true.
I appreciate it takes time,
but it would be really sublime.
For now adieu and most of all, thank you.
